A Day in the Life of a M.I.T.

As a M.I.T., you will begin your day by going to breakfast with others in the unit you live. After breakfast, you'll go to the waterfront and assist the waterfront staff from 9:00 a.m. to noon while campers are at the waterfront either swimming, boating, or participating in other activities which occur on dry land at the waterfront. After lunch and turtle time, M.I.T.s return to the waterfront from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. to assist the waterfront staff with the afternoon sessions.

In the evenings, you'll be able to relax and have fun participating with everyone else in a variety of activities.

You'll have the opportunity to visit the trading post sometime during each full day of camp and be able to participate in archery and tie-dye at some point during the week.

On Friday, you'll spend half a day (9:00 a.m. to noon) at the waterfront assisting with the end of the week activities.

The amount of swimming/boating time for a M.I.T. ranges from roughly two to three hours each day (broken up intermittently rather than all at once). "Extra" swimming/boating time (at the end of the day or after dinner) is not available. Remember, even though you are assisting staff, you are still a camper and cell phones/ computers/ iPod's and/or other electronic items are NOT allowed at camp.

Please note that the times and days are subject to change as plans for each session are finalized by camp staff. Each week poses different sessions and activities; this schedule is just what is typically done each week.
